SIROCCO

We trust you will forgive our thus addressing you but it will we hope prove to you that in all your suffering during the past four weeks you had the sympathy of every one of your workmen.

We beg you to accept with this Album the accompanying pair of Bronze Figures merely as a slight token of our regard and we hope you may be long spared to devote your energy and talents to the further development of the Sirocco Works of the rise and rapid progress of which as Citizens and Workmen we have all reason to be proud.

Signed on behalf of the Subscribers.

Thomas W. Righ, Chairman.

James M'Creery, Treasurer.

W. J. Devers, } Secretaries.
Francis Clippolotham, }

Dear Sir,

It was with sincere regret that we learned a month ago of the painful accident which has since kept you from business and it is with no less sincere pleasure that we welcome your appearance amongst us again.

We are led to this expression of our feelings not only by your invariable kindness as an employer but from the many special acts of generosity which you have performed from time to time to those who are fortunate enough to be in your employment.

Notably prominent in our minds is your action on Christmas Eve just past, for although suffering intense pain you did not omit to write with your own hand your wishes for a Happy Christmas and the instructions for the dispensing of your annual gifts to those around you.

Dear Sir,

It was with sincere regret that we learned a month ago of the painful accident which has since kept you from business and it is with no less sincere pleasure that we welcome your appearance amongst us again.

We are led to this expression of our feelings not only by your invariable kindness as an employer but from the many special acts of generosity which you have performed from time to time to those who are fortunate enough to be in your employment.

Notably prominent in our minds is your action on Christmas Eve just past for although suffering intense pain you did not omit to write with your own hand your wishes for a Happy Christmas and the instructions for the dispensing of your annual gifts to those around you.